I. SUMMARY AND BACKGROUND

A. Purpose and Summary

The purpose of H.J. Res. 39 is to provide for Congressional disapproval of the rule submitted by the Department of Commerce relating to "Procedures Covering Suspension of Liquidation, Duties and Estimated Duties in Accord With Presidential Proclamation 10414".

B. Background and Need for Legislation

In 2012, the Department of Commerce issued final determinations that imports of solar cells and modules from the People's Republic of China (PRC) were unfairly priced and subsidized, and the International Trade Commission issued final determinations that these imports materially injured the U.S. domestic industry. Pursuant to these determinations, the United States imposed antidumping (AD) duties ranging from 18 to 25 percent on solar cells and modules imported from certain individually-investigated Chinese firms and 250 percent on all other solar cells and modules imported from the PRC.¹ Additionally, the United States imposed countervailing (CVD) duties of 14 to 15 percent on all solar cells and modules imported from China.²

On April 1, 2022, in response to a petition from Auxin Solar Inc., the Department of Commerce initiated a circumvention inquiry into whether imports of solar cells and modules, completed in Cambodia, Malaysia, Thailand, or Vietnam using parts and components from the PRC, are circumventing existing AD and CVD orders on solar cells and modules from the PRC.³

On June 6, 2022, President Biden issued Proclamation 10414, which "declare[d] an emergency to exist with respect to the threats to the availability of sufficient electricity generation capacity to meet expected consumer demand," citing 19 U.S.C. § 1318(a) as authority for this emergency declaration. That statute empowers the President to proclaim an emergency "by reason of a state of war, or otherwise," and on the basis of that emergency to allow "the importation free of duty of food, clothing, and medical, surgical, and other supplies for use in emergency relief work." On the basis of this authority, Proclamation 10414 directed the Secretary of Commerce to "consider taking appropriate action" to permit importation free of any new tariffs imposed under U.S. AD or CVD law of solar cells and modules from Cambodia, Malaysia, Thailand, and Vietnam for a period of 24 months. On September 16, 2022, the Department of Commerce issued a Final Rule to implement Proclamation 10414.⁴

On December 2, 2022, the Department of Commerce issued Preliminary Affirmative Determinations of Circumvention with respect to Cambodia, Malaysia, Thailand, and Vietnam.⁵

² 77 Fed. Reg. 73017 (December 7, 2012).

³ 87 Fed. Reg. 19071 (April 1, 2022).

⁴ 87 Fed. Reg. 56868 (September 16, 2022).

⁵ 87 Fed. Reg. 75221 (December 8, 2022).

Under the normal operation of U.S. AD and CVD law, upon issuing a Preliminary Affirmative Determination of Circumvention, the Department of Commerce would instruct U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) to suspend liquidation of entries of products covered by such a determination and require collection of cash deposits sufficient to cover estimated duties that reflect the preliminary finding of circumvention. However, due to Proclamation 10414, as implemented by the Department of Commerce's Final Rule, the Department of Commerce did not instruct CBP to do so and has made clear that it does not intend to take any action to collect duties or estimated duties that reflect the finding of circumvention for solar cells and modules from these four countries that enter the United States prior to June 6, 2024.

H.J. Res. 39 would disapprove of the Department of Commerce's Final Rule implementing President Biden's Proclamation 10414 and allow U.S. AD and CVD law to function as designed, including to address circumvention of AD and CVD orders by exporters from the PRC. Pursuant to the Congressional Review Act, enacting H.J. Res. 39 into law would prevent this Final Rule from having effect and would prevent the Department of Commerce from issuing a rule that is substantially the same as this Final Rule.
